The Texas Association of Appraisal Districts (TAAD) will again host its Chief Appraiser Institute, as well as Chief Appraiser Refresher.

If you are one of the new chief appraisers required by Chapter 1151, Occupations Code to attend special training, the Chief Appraiser Institute curriculum has been accepted by the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation and covers all topics specified in the legislation. There are 10 sessions planned in two sets of meetings — in September and October, both held at the TAAD office in Austin.

The deadline for returning your Institute application and registration fee is August 3. Chief appraisers hired later than August 3 who are interested in attending the institute should contact TAAD immediately to determine if space is available.

The Chief Appraiser Refresher will be held December 3-7 at the TAAD office in Austin. Please understand that this is not the same program as the Chief Appraiser Institute and the mandatory training it provides to new chief appraisers. While some of the topics are similar, the Refresher is geared toward an experienced chief appraiser.

This year, the Refresher welcomes not only veteran chief appraisers, but registration will also be open to deputy and assistant chief appraisers, as well as chief appraisers who are TAAD associate members. NOTE: Effective with this year, the Refresher will be offered every other year, during even-numbered years.

The deadline for returning the Refresher application and registration fee is October 15.

The format of both programs will enable participants to learn from some of the best instructors and practitioners in the business, and also learn from one another. And, it will also build a network of colleagues to provide support, experience and cooperation in the administration of your appraisal district.

Class size for both programs will be limited to no more than 32.

Texas Property Tax Code Section 5.042 states:

- Section 5.042, Texas Property Tax Code, regarding mandatory training, applies only to a chief appraiser appointed on or after July 1, 2006.
- A person may not serve as a chief appraiser for an appraisal district unless the person has completed the course of training prescribed by Section 1151.164, Occupations Code and approved by the TDLR.
- A person may serve in a temporary, provisional, or interim capacity as chief appraiser for a period of up to one year without completing the training required by this section.
- This section does not apply to a county assessor-collector who serves as chief appraiser under Section 6.05(c).

The Texas Association of Appraisal Districts provides the training prescribed by Section 1151.164, Occupations Code through its annual Chief Appraiser Institute.
TAAD Presents a Seminar for Appraisers:

Have You Completed Your Public Funds Investment Act Training For 2018

If you’re a chief appraiser or an individual responsible for handling appraisal district funds, you are required by statute (Chapter 2256 of the Texas Government Code) to undergo a minimum of 10 hours of training every two years.

Where to find such training, you may wonder. Good news – TAAD will once again offer its PFIA training on October 8-9 at the North Austin/Round Rock Marriott Hotel.

Registration information is located elsewhere in this issue and in the “Education” section of the TAAD website (www.taad.org).

I want to thank the members for allowing me to serve as President of the Texas Association of Appraisal Districts (TAAD) for 2018. I will do my best to represent the values of TAAD. In addition, thanks to the Board of Directors and staff of Denton CAD for allowing me the opportunity to serve TAAD.

2018 will be a time for educating the Legislature about the property tax system and the functions of appraisal districts. Equity appeals, Heavy Equipment lawsuits, loss of local control, and the potential for various definitions of “Market Value” are topics to be discussed with the Legislature.

To quote Gary Earnest, 2017 TAAD President, “Together, we will carry on our tradition of excellence, as we continue taking bold steps that support an association with a focus on professional development and public service.”

Thanks,

Rudy Durham

Attorney General Opinions/ Requests for Opinions

KP-0192 (April 23, 2018) RE: Procedures regarding reappraisal of property after a disaster.
Request for Opinion: (RQ-0188-KP)

Summary: Pursuant to subsection 23.02(c) of the Tax Code, a taxing unit authorizing a disaster reappraisal must pay the appraisal district all the costs of making the reappraisal. Appraisal districts may not capitalize on a disaster by requesting additional funds from taxing units for expenses the appraisal district would incur regardless of the disaster. To the extent that an appraisal district incurs additional costs resulting from a disaster reappraisal, it may require participating taxing units to fund those extraordinary expenses.

Section 25.19 of the Tax Code requires a chief appraiser to deliver a written notice to the owner of each property that was reappraised in the current tax year. The Legislature made no exception to this requirement for disaster reappraisals conducted pursuant to section 23.02 of the Tax Code. Thus, a court would likely conclude that a chief appraiser must provide notice to a property owner of a reappraisal when the owner’s property value decreases as a result of the disaster reappraisal.

The real estate market is heating up. Of course, some markets are hotter than others and have been seeing sales surge in recent months. Among the hottest: Austin #2, with Houston/Dallas at #3.

www.move.com, April 4, 2018
“Realtor.com today released its March 2018 monthly housing trend report, which shows the U.S. median listing price jumped eight percent year-over-year to $280,000 last month, beating last July’s highpoint of $275,000. Days on market dropped seven percent compared to last year to 63 days and total listings dropped eight percent. Realtor.com receives its for-sale data directly from 99 percent of all U.S. MLSs and updates 90 percent of it every 15 minutes.”

Larry Collins, www.nbedfw.com, April 13, 2018
"The North Texas housing market is red hot and only expected to get even more competitive this year. The buyers are plentiful, but available houses are limited; often times setting off fierce bidding wars. "A lot of buyers come here and don’t realize that you have to pay over asking price and they usually have to lose two or three homes before they realize they’ve got to be aggressive,” Bedford realtor Scott Killian of Scott Real Estate, Inc. said.”

These are the top 10 project types with the expected highest consumer demand:

» Native plants – 83.3 percent
» Native/adapted drought tolerant plants – 83 percent
» Low-maintenance landscapes – 80 percent
» Flexible use space (for yoga classes, movie night, etc.) – 74.2 percent
» Drip/water-efficient irrigation – 72.4 percent
» Permeable paving – 74 percent
» Rain gardens – 71.2 percent
» Reduced lawn area – 70.8 percent
» Food/vegetable gardens (including orchards, vineyards, etc.) – 70.5 percent
» Charging stations (mobile devices) – 70 percent

Betsy Kim, www.globest.com, April 11, 2018
"Personal property is no longer included in 1031 Exchanges. Panelist Marc Wieder, partner and co-practice leader of the real estate industry group at Anchin, Block & Anchin, said prior to the law, with 1031 exchanges when working with a building, FF&E (furniture, fixtures and equipment) were often included in the asset. Property owners sold it all then gave the money to the QI (Qualified Intermediary, an entity that facilitates Section 1031 tax-deferred exchanges).

Now, Wieder sees a wrinkle in that scenario. “The new law does not allow a 1031 with tangible personal property. You will never get the buyer and seller to agree on what amount of the purchase price is allocated to tangible personal property because buyers want a high basis for depreciation purposes. The sellers want a low selling price to minimize the tax on the transaction.”

Subprime mortgages were widely blamed for causing the financial disaster a decade ago, and now they’re coming back with a new name, CNBC staffer Diana Olick reports. Nonprime loans are popping up more and more, including an offering from California-based Carrington Mortgage Services, a midsized lender. The company just announced an expansion into the space, offering loans to borrowers “with less-than-perfect credit,” Olick notes. Carrington will originate and service the loans, but it will also securitize them for sale to investors. https://bit.ly/2qAIPsg

"Hollywood land prices are garnering high prices, if a recent sale is any indication. Crescent Capital Partners paid $373 per square foot for an unentitled development site in Hollywood at 5570 Melrose Avenue. At the time that the CBRE brokerage team of Fred Aframian, Joyce Goldstein and Ed Matevosian brought the property to market, comparable land sites were selling for $280 per square foot. This week, CoreLogic released its Single-Family Rent Index, which analyzes single-family rent price changes among 20 top metropolitan areas. The median home sale price in March was $297,000 in the 174 markets that Redfin tracks. The increase was due in part to the lack of homes for sale, down 11.9 percent year over year, which continued to constrain sales, which declined 3.7 percent. The number of homes newly listed for sale in March fell 5.6 percent compared to a year ago." https://bit.ly/2vqvddB

CHICAGO — The US office market has finally begun hitting a peak after nine years of expansion. And the vast amount of new class A space that developers recently created in many major markets, or will soon finish, has changed the supply-and-demand dynamics in favor of tenants, according to JLL’s first quarter office outlook report. In response, landlords across the nation have boosted the value of their tenant concession packages. And in some cities, those offers have led to flat or even declining effective rent growth. The average TI allowance in the Chicago CBD’s class A properties hit $77.65, according to JLL. New York and Washington are even higher." https://bit.ly/2qNmc3Y

"The 70,292 Texas homes sold in the first quarter this year represents an increase of 2.2 percent compared to the first quarter of 2017. Additionally, the median price increased 5.7 percent in the same time frame to $224,500. Among all homes sold in the first quarter, 29.1 percent were priced at $300,000 or higher, which is 1.9 percentage points more than in 2017. Meanwhile, sales of homes priced $299,000 and below saw a 1.7 percentage point decrease compared to the same quarter last year.” https://bit.ly/2I9qcmO

“A new robot, developed by Perth-based company Fastbrick Robotics, may be the speediest homebuilding machine yet. Called the Hadrian X, it’s essentially one long robotic arm that mounts on a truck, barge, or crane. Operating from a 3D model, the machine cuts its own bricks and applies adhesive. Using a conveyor belt, it then feeds the pieces to the end of the arm, which lays them into place. The Hadrian X can lay 1,000-plus standard bricks per hour, the company’s director of corporate affairs, Kiel Chivers, told Business Insider.” https://read.bi/2L6If03

“Metrostudy, a Hanley Wood company, announced today the release of its first quarter 2018 Residential Remodeling Index (RRI), detailing activity in the remodeling and replacement industry. In first quarter 2018, the Residential Remodeling Index improved to a new all-time high of 112.9, which represents a solid increase of 5.2 percent from one year earlier and growth of 1.4 percent from the previous quarter. First quarter’s year-over-year gain was the strongest since first quarter 2014, while quarter-to-quarter growth was the highest since third quarter 2013, underscoring the current vigor within the industry.” https://bit.ly/2IBWHyf

“Plan on prices for lumber and steel remaining in the stratosphere the rest of this year and transportation, trade, and labor problems that also will keep pushing up the cost of drywall, insulation, and other key building products, a clutch of procurement experts told Do it Best member dealers today. It’s a similar story for steel products, Gary Davidson told the several hundred dealers attending the luncheon meeting in Indianapolis, part of Do it Best’s spring market. He said American Metal Markets’ index price for hot rolled coil steel—the product used in steel roofs—is approaching $877 a ton, “probably the highest it’s been since 2008,” the national accounts manager for Metal Sales Manufacturing Corp. said. “The mills are going to try to drive it to $900.” https://bit.ly/2LewWJq

Editor’s Note: This is a large article but an amazing read.

“What does it really take to buy a home in the Seattle area? There are the skyrocketing prices, of course. But nowadays, to compete in this feverish market, buyers have to deal with so much more: Pay for damage the seller doesn’t disclose. Decide whether to buy a house just a couple days after it hits the market. Have a six-figure cash nest egg saved up for a down payment and nonrefundable earnest money. Here is the cold, hard math: The median down payment on all homes (single-family and condos) in King County just topped $100,000 for the first time, up from about $50,000 just five years ago, according to mortgage tracking company Attom Data Solutions.”

Also, if you want to stay under $500,000, it will be at least a 60-minute commute. https://bit.ly/2ID24ce

The median down payment on all home types has more than doubled in the past five years and has surpassed $100,000 for the first time.

"Over the past year, the principal-and-interest mortgage payment on a median-priced home rose by nearly nine percent while the U.S. median sale price rose about six percent. As of now, the CoreLogic Home Price Index forecast suggests that U.S. home prices will rise 6.2 percent year over year in February 2019, while a forecast based on multiple sources predicts a 13 percent gain in mortgage payments over the same period.”

“Hurricanes may have a longer-term effect on the values of commercial real estate than one would typically think — but that impact is vastly different depending on the type of property. For all property types combined, the hurricane decreased values by almost six percent one year after the storm hit. But, somewhat astonishingly, the negative effect was even greater two years out — 10.5 percent.”

Land Grant Search Application

The Land Grant Search app is available by authority of Texas Natural Resources Code Sec. 31.056(d).

In the 1940’s when Bascom Giles was Land Commissioner and as part of the WPA Project, Abstracts of All Original Texas land Titles Comprising Grants and Locations to August 31, 1941 were printed. The initial eight volume set comprised lands that had been granted or purchased by abstract number in Texas’ 254 counties through August 31, 1941. As new abstract numbers and as Patents and Deeds of Acquittance were issued, this information was compiled and printed in supplements. Sometime in the 1990s when Garry Mauro was Land Commissioner, it was deemed too costly to continue printing the supplements and the administration felt that a better method of distribution and one less costly would be to offer the information through microfiche. The GLO offered the original eight volume set as well as supplements A through I on microfiche through the Mauro Administration.

During the Dewhurst Administration, around 2000, the information in the original eight volume set and subsequent supplements was data entered by a group working for Ancestry.com, and this was the start of the Land Grant Database. Initially the Land Grant Database captured only that information that had been printed in the abstract books, and the database was set up mimicking the fields in the volumes. Since 2000 the database has become an inventory for the many collections of documents in the Archives Vault, and much of this information having no specific fields of their own are required to be forced into existing fields in order for the information to display on the Detail Page for each file.

The Land Grant Database is a fluid document, constantly changing. As new abstract numbers are assigned, Patents and/or Deeds of Acquittance issued, changes in spellings, etc., this information is entered into the database and displays on the Detail Page for a specific file.

When searching for abstract numbers, consult the Land Grant Database http://www.glo.texas.gov/history/archives/land-grants/index.cfm in the dropdown box for County, click on the county you are interested in searching (for instance Bastrop), click Search and 1,672 records render. The files without abstract numbers appear first, and around record number 1176 those with abstract numbers appear. By clicking on any of the blue links you will be taken to the detail page for that specific record. Those records that have been scanned will have a ViewPDF at the bottom of the page and by clicking on it, you will be taken to the digital record for that particular file.

Information can be queried out by individual county as shown in the Excel sheet above. The program area charges $50.00 per hour for research and it takes about a quarter of an hour to produce a query for an individual county, or $12.50.
